

ASSOCIATION FOR SYMBOLIC LOGIC

Typesetting Office
114 Running Fox Lane
Charlottesville, VA 22902
Telephone: 434-296-6230 Fax: 434-296-6255

TO: Professor Thomas C. Hales      Date: November 3, 2012

RE:                                      Your Article for Publication in Turing's Legacy, ASL Lecture Notes in Logic.
Editor: Rodney G. Downey.

To expedite publication of this book, please sign the Copyright Transfer Agreement below and return it to the ASL Typesetting Office at the address above as soon as possible. This agreement authorizes the Association for Symbolic Logic (ASL) to proceed with publication without jeopardizing the investment of effort and money required to prepare the Article for publication. This transfer of rights is a condition of publication. Under this agreement, you the Author(s) have permission from the ASL to reproduce and distribute this Article freely, as long as you always include the bibliographic details of the publication of this Article by the ASL. The agreement also means, among other things, that the ASL will have the right to publish the Article not only in this book, but also in any other context or medium as it deems appropriate. It is ASL policy to consult with authors, where feasible, prior to any re-publication of Introductions.

---

Copyright Transfer Agreement

The Association for Symbolic Logic (the "ASL") is pleased to publish the Article entitled:

Mathematics in the age of the Turing machine

by the Author(s): Thomas C. Hales

(the term "Author" as used in this Agreement will include multiple co-authors, jointly and severally)

Author's mailing address:

Thomas C. Hales
416 Thackeray Hall
Mathematics Dept.
University of Pittsburgh
Pittsburgh PA, 15260.

(please fill this in; it is the address to which the author's free copy of Lecture Notes in Logic will be mailed) in the book edited by: Rodney G. Downey.

and titled: Turing's Legacy

which has been accepted by the Editors to be published in the series Lecture Notes in Logic.

(1) In consideration of the publication of this Article, the Author hereby transfers copyright, to the extent permitted him by law, for this Article to the ASL, with the following stipulations:

(2) The ASL hereby grants to the Author the non-exclusive right to reproduce the Article, to create derivative works based upon the Article, and to distribute and display the Article and any such derivative work by any means and in any media, provided the provisions of clause (3) below are met. The Author may sublicense any publisher or other third party to exercise those rights.

(3) Whenever the Author reproduces or distributes the Article, the Author (a) will ensure that credit for publication in this book is explicitly stated (with bibliographic details) and (b) will ensure that the fact of copyright ownership by the ASL is explicitly stated.

(4) The Author warrants that the Author is an author of the Article and has the right to make the grants made in (1) about to the ASL.

A separate copy of this form is being sent to each author to sign and return to the address above. If the Article is written entirely by U.S. Government employees within the scope of their official duties, only paragraphs 3(a) and 4 above will apply.

Association for Symbolic Logic by: Richard A. Shore, Publisher

The Author hereby acknowledges and agrees to the above.

Thomas Hales
Signature

_____
Title (if not author)

Thomas C. HALES.
Print Name

_____
Date

Feb 7, 2013.

Author to sign IF APPLICABLE: I attest that the above Article was written exclusively as part of the official duties of the Author as employee(s) of the United States Government.

_____
Signature

_____
Title (if not author)

_____
Print Name

_____
Date